Con este número empieza una nueva era de nuestro boletín, en este bello tiempo pascual de 2010. Jesús resucitado es la razón de nuestra fe y la fuente de nuestra vida. En él, con él y por él seguimos "Construyendo nuestra Esperanza", gracias a nuestro equipo pastoral, colaboradores y benefactores, y en unión con los jóvenes y asesores a quienes servimos.

El año pasado el Instituto Fe y Vida (Fe y Vida) cumplió 15 años, que festejamos con un gran acontecimiento que pudimos celebrar en diferentes ocasiones y de variadas maneras.

En nuestra reunión de la mesa directiva gozamos de la presencia del hermano Damian Steger, FSC, cofundador de Fe y Vida. En agradable conversación fue recordando los primeros sueños sobre un instituto de formación para la pastoral juvenil hispana y la creación de Fe y Vida junto con la doctora Carmen María Cervantes.

También, como parte de la agenda, se reservó un tiempo para que el obispo Carlos A. Sevilla, SJ, presidente episcopal de la mesa directiva, nos dirigiera en un retiro espiritual, centrándonos en los dones recibidos de Dios a lo largo de estos 15 años.

Durante esa misma reunión, Carmen agradeció el apoyo de los Hermanos Lasallistas del Medio Oeste y su continuo subsidio a través del Lasallian Education Fund y la colaboración de hermanos de otras provincias.

Dios nos bendijo con el Programa de Verano más grande en nuestra historia. Sí, en medio de la crisis financiera y los problemas migratorios, los jóvenes líderes y sus asesores, siguen formándose con ahínco y dando un testimonio que fortalece nuestro compromiso.

What a blessing it is, and how appropriate, that at the beginning of this Holy Easter Season of 2010, we also begin a new era for our bulletin. The Risen Christ is the reason for our faith and the source of a new life in us. It is in him, with him, and for him that we continue "Building Our Hope" —along with the young people, pastoral advisers, and youth ministers who we serve—thanks to our pastoral team, supporters, and benefactors.

Last year, Instituto Fe y Vida (Fe y Vida) celebrated its Fifteenth Anniversary. Reaching this milestone was, indeed, an opportunity to celebrate in a number of occasions, and in different ways.

Bro. Damian Steger, FSC, co-founder of Fe y Vida, was a welcome presence at our board of directors' meeting, where we all enjoyed his reminiscence of the first dreams about establishing an institute for formation in Hispanic pastoral juvenil, and how the dreams became a reality with the inception of Fe y Vida under the direction of Dr. Carmen María Cervantes.

We were also blessed with a spiritual retreat directed by Bishop Carlos A. Sevilla, SJ, Episcopal Chairman of Fe y Vida's board of directors, whose emphasis was on the gifts that God has graciously given us during the past 15 years.

During this same meeting, Carmen ratified Fe y Vida's gratitude to the De LaSalle Christian Brothers of the Midwest for their continuous support and subsidy through their Lasallian Education Fund, as well as for the collaboration of De LaSalle Brothers from other provinces.

God blessed us with the largest participation ever in our Summer Program. It is admirable and encouraging that in the midst of the present financial crisis and migration issues, our young adult leaders and their advisors are eagerly continuing with their formation. Their witnessing strengthens our commitment.

"Jesús resucitado es la razón de nuestra fe y la fuente de nuestra vida."

"The Risen Christ is the reason for our faith and the source of a new life in us."

OUR YOUTH PRAYS WITH THE WORD OF GOD

USING THE Diálogos Semanales con Jesús

Walter F. Mena
Director of Formation Programs

The homilist of the Opening Mass was Archbishop Alexander J. Brunett, of Seattle, Washington, who engaged us with his inspiring words. The Closing Mass afforded the opportunity for acknowledging Fe y Vida's founding team, especially those who have been with us since the very beginnings: Carlos Carrillo, Aurora Macías-Dewhirst, José María Matty-Cervantes, Antonio Medina-Rivera, and Alicia María Sánchez.

A very dear friend of Fe y Vida was telling me today that she really misses being in contact with us through our bulletins. Actually, the excess of work has been the culprit for not publishing our bulletin in the past. However, we know that excess is really God's gift of life abundant; a gift wrapped in multiple programs and projects, and which we want to share with you in the following pages.

God has also blessed us with the recent addition of Sylvia L. Sánchez as our Director of Development and Institutional Advancement. Her gifts, vision, and dedication are assets that will enable us to put in gear those plans which were put aside for awhile, including this bulletin. Welcome, Sylvia!

From now on—thinking green and for the best use of our resources—the bulletin will be sent to you electronically. Please make your subscription at

In the Risen Lord, who lives in us and among us,

Carmen María Cervantes, EdD
Executive Director

Diálogos Semanales con Jesús (DSJ) (Weekly Dialogues with Jesus) is a series of books, the main purpose of which is to offer our young people a way to get to know the living Word of God in relation to the richness of liturgical life and through the experience of Lectio Divina, a type of Sacred Scripture reading that has been part of the Catholic tradition for many years. This type of approach to the reading and meditation of Sacred Scripture inspires and challenges the young person to be a protagonist in the world of his/her own time.

Faithful to that purpose and using the DSJ, Fe y Vida's biblical team developed a program, which provided training to Latino youth in dioceses across the country during 2008 and 2009.

This project, partially subsidized by the American Bible Society, was organized into different stages. First was the preparation of a Manual and other pertinent materials; secondly, we extended an invitation to each diocese to send two leaders to a training of trainers program, who in turn, would commit themselves to offer two workshops within their respective dioceses. The response was very positive, and the training took place in Los Angeles, CA, on May 2-4, 2008 with 64 delegates from 16 dioceses.

These trained leaders took care of the third stage, which consisted of the local training at each of their dioceses. Between September, 2008 and April, 2009, twenty workshops were offered in the Arch/Dioceses of Atlanta, GA; Boise, ID; Charlotte, NC; Dallas/Forth Worth, TX; Kansas City, KS; Portland, OR; Pueblo, CO; Saint Paul; MN; Salt Lake City, UT; Santa Rosa, CA; and Yakima, WA. This part of the project has become an ongoing ministry for Fe y Vida.

In the fourth stage the Manual was revised based on the evaluations and suggestions from the diocesan workshops and a national team was put together. The members of the "DSJ National Team," as it is known to us, are: Sr. Francis Aldama, Adriana Visoso Valverde, Elizabeth Torres, Edith Ramírez, Miguel Sánchez, Ricardo Veloz, José Alfredo Morán, Juan Carlos Solorio, Rico Sotelo and Walter F. Mena. We travel to the arch/dioceses to offer similar training workshops.

Between August, 2009 and December, 2009, the Team offered 12 workshops in the arch/dioceses of Galveston-Houston, TX; Stockton, CA; Grand Rapids, MI; Denver, CO; Louisville, KY; Boston, MA; Camden, NJ; Philadelphia and Harrisburg, PA; and Phoenix, AZ. At the end of the fourth stage of this project included a training of trainers program and 36 workshops in 22 dioceses around the country. Approximately 1,000 young Latinos were trained on Lectio Divina and the liturgical cycle.

The last stage was the final edition of the Manual, which is a comprehensive tool for training the young people and their mentors in Lectio Divina, based on the Sunday Lectionary, and will be available for download free of charge on our biblical website, now under construction. I invite you to subscribe to our biblical bulletin where we will announce the completion date of our biblical website: www.BibliaParaJovenes.org

We give thanks to God for the witnessing and commitment of the young people, as well as for the interest and welcoming of the dioceses. This is certainly of great motivation for us in the biblical pastoral team of Fe y Vida. We want to convey our gratitude to the American Bible Society, the diocesan personnel, the young trainers, and the adults and young people that have participated in the workshops. Their ongoing dedication to ministering Catholic Latino youth and young adults is a gift from God to the Church in the U.S. We, at Fe y Vida, renew our own commitment to continue inviting our young people to get to know the Word of God, pray with the Word, and embrace it wholeheartedly.

A VERY PRODUCTIVE BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING

The last meeting of Fe y Vida's board of directors and staff was blessed with a session which followed a process called "Appreciative Inquiry," facilitated by Shryl McCormick, an expert in the field of organizational performance and development. In a prayerful spirit, Shryl helped us review together our past fifteen years, going over each and every project, and bringing forth all the positive outcomes. Another important part of the process was identifying strengths, and how to apply them to those areas that we want and need to develop.

Although this type of process was practically new to all of us, we were readily engaged in it, and it became clear at the end that we had participated in a very dynamic experience—a fine alternative to other processes—to visualize ideals as well as identify priorities. Bishop Carlos A. Sevilla, SJ, our Chairman of the Board, was an inspiring participant who encouraged us to continue our mission, and all of us felt that the bond among us had been strengthened while our commitment to mission was renewed. It was the perfect activity to complete Fe y Vida's Quinceañera celebrations and enter into our next stage.

However, this was not the end of our productive meeting. Blessings kept rushing in when three young adults from the Diocese of Santa Rosa joined us that evening. Alfonso Mojica, Juan Carlos and Edna Solorio, together with Abraham Solar, member of Fe y Vida's board and pastoral team, candidly shared with us significant parts of their faith journey. In an informal and dynamic conversation they told us how Fe y Vida has influenced their personal and family lives, as well as their ministry in a community of faith.

"Unsuccessfully, we tried for many years to organize Pastoral Juvenil in the diocese. I believe that the formation and training courses of Fe y Vida helped us to grow in our faith, and to develop leadership skills to serve the Church from our youth. Now, it is our turn to prepare other young men and women, which is what we are doing in collaboration with Stan Cordero, the diocesan director of youth ministry. I belong to the National Catholic Network of Pastoral Juvenil Hispana (La Red) where I have the opportunity of working with other young people at a national level. I like music and play the guitar, and this is also another way of evangelizing."

—Alfonso Mojica

"I always knew I was an introvert, and that bothered me. It was not until my experience with Fe y Vida that I was able to understand that I, too, had something to offer, that I was important to God, to my family, and my community. I began to feel better about myself, but above all, I began to see Jesus as the center of my whole life and of all my comings and goings, in the midst of my family. We are the work of God, and I want to be a bridge that brings other young people to God, as I have learned from Abraham Solar, who is part of the staff of our Diocese of Santa Rosa; however, he generously coordinates all the Fe y Vida programs in the diocese on a volunteer basis."

COMING SOON!

First Biblical Mission among Youth and Young Adults

"God's Word is Alive in Young People"

Yes, it has taken us three years to develop this wonderful project, but we are already in the process of creating a special website, where all materials and resources for the Mission will be available to you completely free of charge. The Spanish version of our First Biblical Mission will be ready to download in the very near future. Its English version—a joint effort with Saint Mary's Press—will become available at a later date.

If you would like to know when these resources will become available, please sign up for the biblical bulletin at:

"I was raised Catholic, and during my teen years I was ready to join the youth group of my parish. I became very active in the group of my peers, but I was suffering from a personal depression that lasted four years. It was during that difficult period in my life that Abraham Solar invited me to Fe y Vida's Initiation Course for Pastoral Juvenil, and it was there that I first experienced a positive change in my emotional state of mind. After participating in Fe y Vida's National Leadership Symposium, which was offered in Wisconsin that year, I began to see a different God, and it was not the punishing God who hunted down sinners that I knew before. Now, I had a great desire to seek this newly-found God, and I was determined to succeed. I don't know when or how it happened exactly, but now I know that I don't have to seek God anywhere, because God is already in me. However, I also have come to realize that I needed to find myself before I could find God in me. Oh, and I should not forget to say that it was at one of Fe y Vida's courses that I met my husband Juan Carlos!"

—Edna Solorio

CathOlic latInO Youth and Parents PrOject

We at Instituto Fe y Vida are very excited about the progress of our Catholic Latino Youth and Parents Project (CLYPP). It was conceived at the end of 2007 and brought to fruition by a generous grant of the Lilly Endowment.

This four-year project, under the guidance of Ken Johnson-Mondragón, our Director of Research and Resource Center, will support ministry with Catholic Latino youth in parishes and Catholic schools throughout the country over the next decade. The goal is to provide the necessary ministry resources and training programs to effectively engage youth ministry professionals, Latino young adult leaders, and Hispanic parents in the expansion and improvement of religious formation for Hispanic Catholic adolescents.

After about 18 months of field research and planning, the editorial team of writers gathered in Houston in January of this year to kick off Phase 2 of the project. Among the tasks planned for this phase of the project are: (a) a guidebook for ministry with Hispanic teens and their parents; (b) resources for ministry with adolescents: youth retreats and leadership formation workshops, supplemental materials for Confirmation, a collection of youth ministry session plans that relates gospel themes to life issues commonly faced by Latino teens, and a resource for planning service projects in Latino communities; and (c) a set of seven modular formation programs for ministry with parents, with accompanying workbooks and resource materials. These materials will begin to appear in published form next year.

Research and Resource Center

Ken Johnson-Mondragón
Director of Research and Publications

Since 2003, Instituto Fe y Vida's Research and Resource Center has published occasional papers in its Perspectives on Hispanic Youth and Young Adult Ministry series. The sixth publication in this series is now available for purchase. It can also be reviewed in a non-printing Adobe Acrobat file, available for download on Fe y Vida's website:

www.feyvida.org/research/researchpubs

The title of the new bilingual publication is Hispanic Youth and Young Adult Ministry in the United States: Bridging Hispanic and Mainstream Ministry to Forge the Church Anew in 21st Century America.

Written by Ken Johnson-Mondragón, this paper was commissioned for the June 2009 National Symposium on Hispanic Ministry at Boston College. It will also appear shortly with six other papers presented at the symposium in a book to be published by Miami-based Convivium Press. The bilingual book, edited by Hosffman Ospino, PhD, will be titled Hispanic Ministry in the 21st Century: Present and Future.

Combining insights from the National Study of Youth and Religion (NSYR) and the First National Encuentro for Hispanic Youth and Young Adult Ministry (PENPJH by its initials in Spanish), the new Perspectives provides a summary and update of the current demographics and social context of young Hispanic Catholics.

Key differences between Hispanic and mainstream approaches to youth and young adult ministry are highlighted, as well as an analysis of the current strengths, challenges, and recent advances regarding the pastoral response to Latino youth and young adults in the Catholic Church. The paper concludes with a series of pastoral recommendations for the local, diocesan, and national development of these ministries.

Raíces y Alas 2010

The National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry (NCCCHM) invites you to reserve the dates of its Raíces y Alas 2010, "Rooted in discipleship: Enviados en Misión," which will take place in Rosemont, IL, on September 23-26, 2010. This extraordinary gathering of Hispanic Catholic leaders from the United States will revive the spirit of the Encuentros and celebrate the 10th anniversary of Encuentro 2000.

This gathering will be a celebration and reflection on the current reality of Hispanic Ministry, as well as a theological reflection, and a look toward the future, with specific projections for ministerial actions. The reflections on the reality of Hispanics will be based on the five priorities of the U.S. Catholic Bishops:

- Family
- Faith formation and sacramental practice
- Young people and vocations
- Life and dignity of the human person
- Diversity with special emphasis on Hispanics

Books and resources for Pastoral Juvenil

Diálogos Semanales con Jesús – A Lectionary-based Series for Youth and Young Adults

This series of six books—two for each cycle of the liturgical year—is published only in Spanish. It is geared toward young people, starting around 15 years old. Each book contains weekly session plans based on the Sunday readings that are conducive to prayer, reflection, and action in the spirit of La Biblia Católica para Jóvenes. There are also prayers and guidelines for individual prayer as well as for liturgical worship settings. In addition, each book is complemented with biblical

Fr. Kenneth G. Davis, OFM Conv.

Our good friend and faithful collaborator of many years, Fr. Kenneth G. Davis, OFM Conv., is celebrating the Silver Anniversary of his priesthood as a Franciscan Friar on May 5, 2010, and we rejoice with him in this blessed occasion.

Indeed, this is a happy occasion and a two-fold opportunity for giving thanks to God and also to Fr. Ken for his dedication to preaching the Gospel throughout his priestly life, especially with respect to Hispanic ministry. He has been a bridge builder, always fostering a better understanding between the Hispanic community and the English-speaking community. As an author, his articles have appeared in a good number of national publications.

Since Fe y Vida's inception, Fr. Ken has collaborated with us in various projects. He is also a member of our Research and Resource Center Council, and it was through his intercession that the Conventual Franciscans became a partner congregation in our mission.

Congratulations and abundant blessings to Fr. Ken Davis!

Por Walter Mena

Es hora de salir al balcón de la vida, mirar el horizonte, despertar al alba y sentirse lleno de alegría.

Es hora de asomarse al infinito, de anunciar y cantar, trabajar y proclamar que es posible un mundo nuevo y distinto.

Es hora de entrar en la noche sin miedo y ser sus testigos; descubrir su presencia entre nosotros fortaleciendo nuestras esperanzas y anhelos.

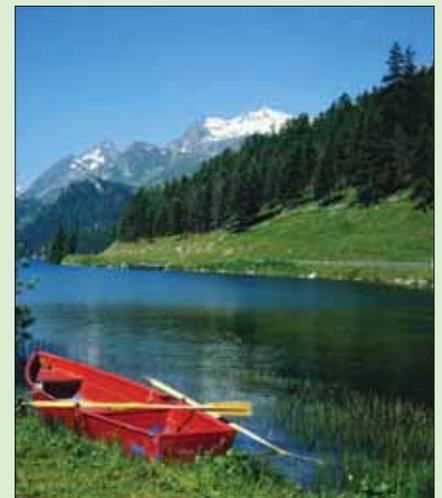

Es hora de romper los esquemas de siempre; de escuchar las palabras del silencio; gustar su presencia callada, confesar la vida, andar por los desiertos y abrir nuevas sendas por donde pueda llegar el Reino.

Es hora de iniciar caminos nuevos, arriesgarlo todo, apostar por Dios y su Reino.

Es hora de la Pascua de Resurrección, de brindar por la Vida Plena que el Señor nos sigue trayendo, para ensanchar nuestro corazón y hacerlo más sensible y más fraterno.

¡Aleluya!

¡Felices Pascuas de Resurrección!

CONGRATULATIONS!

Archbishop José H. Gómez, STD

Instituto Fe y Vida joins in the many expressions of congratulations to Archbishop Gómez on his appointment as Coadjutor Archbishop of Los Angeles. We welcome him as an old friend and our new neighbor.

The Mass of Reception is scheduled for May 26, 2010 at the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels. It will be a day of grace, and we invite you to be prayerfully present with the local community at this eucharistic celebration.

Archbishop Gómez will succeed Cardinal Roger Mahony when he retires next year. We would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to Cardinal Mahony for his tireless support to the Hispanic community in the United States, and for his incessant advocacy for immigrant and human rights.

FE Y VIDA NEEDS YOUR HELP

We need your help to continue our mission of bringing the Word of God to our Hispanic young people!

Fe y Vida has devoted the past fifteen years to do just that, through evangelization and faith formation programs which also train our young people to become leaders among their peers, continuing this wonderful work in their own communities.

During our journey, we have reached out to many people with generous hearts, who have readily responded and helped us accomplish a mission that otherwise could have not been possible. God has blessed us with the financial support of individuals and institutions that have helped subsidize our projects. We are prayerfully grateful for each and all of them.

Can YOU help us?

We need your help to continue this wonderful work.

While it is true that most of us have been affected by the present economic tailspin of our nation, it is also true that faith works miracles. And so we continue tirelessly in our quest to find the support that we need to affect the life of each Hispanic young Catholic.

Though I just recently joined Fe y Vida as Director of Development and Institutional Advancement, its mission was not completely unknown to me. However, today I am able to “zoom in” and clearly see the dedication and perseverance that goes into every single project. I am thankful to God for the blessing of being part of an institute that cares deeply for the young among us.

Please keep us in your prayers

I also ask that you give prayerful consideration to discern how you can help us. No amount is too great or too small. Please send it to:

Instituto Fe y Vida
1737 W. Benjamin Holt Dr.
Stockton, CA 95207-3483

And, if you come up with any good ideas to embellish and advance our mission among the youth and young adults, I encourage you to contact me and share it with me.

Let us give thanks to the Lord for the beautiful things He is accomplishing through us.
THROUGH ALL OF US.

FE Y VIDA PRESENTS AT BOSTON COLLEGE

Our Executive Director, Carmen María Cervantes, EdD, was the presenter at two conferences sponsored by the School of Theology and Ministry of Boston College, and titled “The Imperative of Ministering to Hispanic Youth: Pastoral Juvenil Hispana.” The conferences were offered in Spanish and English on March 6 and 8, 2010, respectively.

Dr. Cervantes explained the urgent need for all youth ministry leaders to embrace models that respond to the shifting demographics transforming the face of the church throughout the country. She introduced the model of Pastoral Juvenil Hispana as a treasure for the church. During the presentation, she explored Pastoral Juvenil Hispana in comparison to traditional models for youth ministry, its contributions and challenges, and also provided insights on the resources available for ministers working or planning to work with Hispanic youth.
